

London Homestay

Immerse yourself in local culture and hospitality with a selected host family.

Ready to have an authentic experience? Choose a homestay and live like a Londoner! Staying with local London hosts offers you a unique way to experience life in England's capital. Homestays provide safe, comfortable accommodation to international students like you who want to discover the local community and gain an insight into daily life in London.

Your Accommodation

Living in a homestay accommodation is the best way to practise your English outside the classroom daily while also experiencing the diverse culture of London. While staying with your hosts, you will be welcomed into their home and treated as a close friend. You will have your own freedom while expected to respect their rules and expectations.

A homestay in the UK may consist of an adult couple, with or without children, or a single adult. There may also be other international students, up to three, staying with you at the accommodation, possibly of a different nationality speaking their native language different from your own.

Homestays in London are of many different nationalities and backgrounds, but the main language spoken in the house will be English.

Homestays are arranged by our accommodation partner, Hosts International who are registered with the British Council.

Dinners are usually quite early in Britain, but hosts will inform the student of the time when they eat. It is important that the student informs the host beforehand should they be late or are not having dinner.
